Section 1.0 – Introduction

The Terra Nova Oil Field is situated on the Grand Banks, about 350 kilometers east-southeast of St. John's, Newfoundland, and 35 kilometers southeast of the Hibernia Oil Field. The Terra Nova field is comprised of a combination of producing wells, as well as water injection and gas injection wells, and delivers production from the Graben, East Flank and Far East blocks.

Discovered in 1984, the field was the second to be developed off Newfoundland. Production from the field began in 2002, through the use of a Floating, Production, Storage and Offloading (FPSO) vessel. This was the first development in North America to use FPSO technology in a harsh weather environment.

The FPSO is a ship-shaped vessel which has integrated oil storage capability from which oil is offloaded into a shuttle tanker. The storage capacity of the Terra Nova FPSO is 960,000 barrels of oil with accommodations for up to 120 personnel while producing. The vessel is 292.2 meters long, 45.5 meters wide and stands higher than 18 storeys. Terra Nova pre-production capital expenditures were approximately $2.8 billion. The FPSO arrived in field on August 21, 2001 and produced first oil in January 2002.

Suncor Energy, as operator of Terra Nova, is committed to enhancing opportunities for the people of the province through participation in the Terra Nova Development. A lasting economic legacy is being created for the province through Suncor's recruitment and training of local talent, its provision of full and fair opportunity to local businesses, and by giving first consideration to locally produced goods and services within the Province, where those goods and services are deemed competitive.
