Guiding Principles

Suncor’s principles for guiding the development of stakeholder relations are:

Respect

Mutual respect is the keystone around which productive stakeholder relations must be constructed. Suncor respects the values and cultures of our stakeholders, as well as those of their communities and countries. Even where we must agree to disagree, Suncor employees will always demonstrate respect for the diversity of views presented.

Responsibility

Suncor acknowledges and accepts its responsibility to engage our stakeholders wherever they are affected by our operations. Suncor encourages stakeholders to define how they wish to be consulted and will strive to meet their needs. Recognizing that not all stakeholders have the same needs or are equally affected by our activities, Suncor will endeavour to engage with each in a way that best fits the nature of our relationship.

Responsiveness

Suncor will actively seek stakeholders’ input and feedback on its activities and decisions and will strive to take into account the needs and concerns of stakeholders when making decisions. We are willing to be influenced by stakeholders, even if it means making changes to how we operate our business, and we will keep stakeholders informed of our response to their concerns.

Transparency

Suncor will be transparent and accountable by engaging regularly, openly and honestly with stakeholders and by reporting objectively on our activities. Subject to legal obligations for competitiveness, confidentiality and securities regulation, our stakeholders will be provided with relevant, understandable and accurate information needed to facilitate dialogue.

Timeliness

Suncor will engage with stakeholders in a timely and appropriate manner. Consultation will allow for disclosure of plans and information before the company makes key decisions and allow enough time for stakeholders to review and respond to information. Suncor understands that relationships are best maintained through regular effort and will strive to consult regularly throughout the full lifecycle of our activities.

Mutual Benefit

Suncor is committed to contributing to the economic and social development of the communities in which we have a presence and to conducting our activities in those communities in a safe and environmentally responsible manner.
